An Event for CA Government Employees Only

The economic crisis is forcing organizations to focus internally, making optimization a priority. The heightened sense of urgency allows for wholesale decisions on issues that once appeared intractable. In this presentation, we will explore the cost optimization techniques that IT leaders can use to drive increased efficiency in both IT and the business.

- How should IT organizations approach cost optimization?
- What are the risks and potential rewards of optimizing IT and business costs?

Gartner Analyst Barbara Gomolski, managing VP, IT Metrics and Finance, will answer these questions and more. Barbara was well-received when she presented these topics at a 2008 Technology Day. Don't miss her return engagement.
